HONORÉ

WHAT IS HONORÉ ?

HONORÉ is a non-profit organisation (1901 law) that promotes collecting and patronage to support artistic creation.

HONORÉ produces art exhibitions.

HONORÉ develops a network of young collectors, in particular with the creation of the “Club des 15”.

HONORÉ creates connections between artists and collectors.

HONORÉ brings all his collaborators on the same level: artists and curators from different background and expertise, internationally acclaimed artists and emerging talents.

HONORÉ is ran by season and has one set address in Paris : Galerie rueVisconti. Honoré de Balzac’s former printing house.

HONORÉ is thought as a playful space of experimentation and freedom.

HONORÉ is our dream collection.

HONORÉ #1
June, 2014

PROGRAM : 3 group shows
: Nature Morte
: Et dans une explosion de joie
: London, UK

65 artists
74 sold artworks
3000 visitors

During its first season, HONORÉ gathered an international audience. HONORÉ seduced its audience with its resolutely free and joyous spirit. Self-proclaimed outsider, HONORÉ initiated first-time purchases, established relationships with prominent international collectors and won the trust of leading art galleries including Emmanuel Perrotin, Hervé Løevenbruck and Sean Kelly. HONORÉ bet on young artists whose reputation was built almost simultaneously. Coinciding with the opening of Honoré's first season, Akiko Takizawa was awarded the HSBC photography prize while Pauline Bastard received the Audi Talent Award.

ELLE, Vanity Fair, Purple, La Nacion and many others have talked about HONORÉ' Season#1.

Several partners trusted HONORÉ from its first Season.

We would like to thank
